Humanity in its Wake.

UNUSUAL SPECTACLE AT TEN

DARK NIGHT TURNED TO DAY

Houses Shaken and People Awakened From Repose—It Plunges Into Ohio River.

Awakened with sensations of a blinding light in their eyes and a feeling that the world was certainly coming to a sudden termination, many people arose from their beds about ten o'clock last night in time to see the most spectacular flight of some illuminated body across the heavens.

Those of Rushville who were fortunate enough not to have sought rest in bed at so early an hour witnessed the usual sight, and many of them were terribly frightened. The body, whatever it was, passed so close to the earth that it was terrifying to say the least.

A few seconds after the thing—it may as well be called a meteor for the lack of any other name for it—disappeared from the view of Rushville people who saw it, there was a terrific explosion which caused the earth to quiver, houses to shake and people to crouch to the earth from fear.

At least a thousand versions of the interesting spectacle were related today. All descriptions agreed on one, that the illumination from the meteor turned night into day, that the darkness of the near midnight hour was as if a noonday sun were shining brightly.

Descriptions, however, are meagre, because the incident of the passing of the moulten mass required but a few seconds. It appeared, people who saw it declare, to be as large as a man's body. It had a tail similar to the tail of the comet that created such a sensation only two years ago. It left a streak of blue mellow light behind it like the trail of a sky rocket.

The sight, although a frightful one, was inspiring, as one man described it today. He said it awed him. It made him realize what single particle such as that could do to a city the size of Rushville.

The body sizzled and hissed as it rushed through space at a rate that was beyond human estimation. It was here, there, and then gone. The whole occurrence was in such a brief space of time that people who witnessed it were dazed and were unable to account for the unusual thing until it was out of sight.

Rushville people disagree as to the cause of the explosion and the consequent local agitation. Here's a man who declares that the sensations felt here were caused by the explosion of the mass of matter and here's another who affirms stoutly that the quaverings of the earth here was due to the impact between the body and the earth. It is highly probable that neither class of men know anything about it. But it's possible to go ahead and speculate.

The person who argued that the sensation was caused by the explosion has this to back his argument. The meteor, while it was within the sight of Rushville spectators, burst into innumerable particles, as does a

INSTALLED NEW OFFICERS

Knights of Pythias Held Semi-Annual Installation Last Night.

The Knights of Pythias lodge had its semi-annual installation of officers last night, Samuel Trabue acting as the installing officer. The following are the new officers: Revillo Ferguson, chancellor commander; Frank Priest, vice-chancellor; Russell Eubank, prelate; Ollie Henley, master at arms; Floyd Hogsett, master of works; Frank Wallace, inner guard; T. L. Carter, outer guard.

J. WALTER WILSON TO APPEAR IN MUNCIERushville Man Who is on Chautauqua Platform This Season, to Give Two Programs.

TRAVELS WITH KRYL'S BAND

J. Walter Wilson of this city, who a year ago last June signed a contract with the Redpath Lyceum Bureau to do chautauqua work this summer, will be one of the attractions at the Muncie chautauqua tomorrow. Mr. Wilson and the famous concert band, directed by Bohumir Kryl, will furnish the program at this assembly both tomorrow afternoon and evening. Mr. Wilson is a soloist with the band, and in addition he assists with the program in giving character impersonations in make-up. In fact, the local man is almost the whole show. He appears also in instrumental solos on the flute and saxophone. Mr. Wilson made his first appearance in Louisville early in May. This is Muncie's first chautauqua and press comments are to the effect that it is making a popular impression. Two excellent pictures of Mr. Wilson, one in street attire and the other in a make-up, appeared in the Muncie Press yesterday.

MAY YET SELECT
ANOTHER CITYRichmond is Tentative Choice For the Coming Republican District Convention, But—

MAY NAME MORE LOYAL PLACE

District Chairman Linus P. Meredith has not yet issued his call for ward and township meetings for the election of delegates to the district convention, says the Richmond Palladium. It is probable delegates to this convention will be named at the same time delegates to the State convention are chosen. Richmond had been the tentative choice as the place for holding the Republican district convention, but it would not be surprising if the convention was held in some city in the district more loyal to the Republican cause. Meredith is expected to fracture his silence, as to the time of holding ward and township meetings and the place where the district conventions will be held, some time this week.

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Tyner of North Willow street fell out of a porch swing at her home yesterday and suffered a broken collar bone.

The Odd Fellows will have installation of officers and work in the first degree tomorrow night. A large attendance is desired.

SINGING PARTY
PROMISES MUCHKellogg-Haines Company Gives Good
Things in Music With Judicious
Mixture of Melody.

AND SOME GRAND OPERA, TOO

Five Musicians Will be at Chautauqua Two Days, Giving Complete Program One Night.

There has been no musical attraction in the eight years history of the chautauqua in Rush county that promises to give as delightful a musical program as does the Kellogg-Haines Singing Party which is billed to appear at the chautauqua which will be held this year, August fourth to eleventh.

The Kellogg-Haines Company comes Thursday, August eighth, for a stay of two days. The company will give the preludes for all the programs, with the exception of Thursday evening, when it will render the complete program.

The chief claim that the Kellogg-Haines Singing Party have on managers and patrons of lyceum courses is that they give an entertaining concert of such solid musical character and fresh wholesome humorous power that it is sure to captivate the musical critic of the severest type.

Few, if any other lyceum attractions have this most desirable dual quality. As one wise newspaper writer aptly put it: "They have discovered just what most audiences want in the way of a musical entertainment. Some real good things in music and then some of the light and catchy with a big allowance for humor and melodious rhythm."

Not only do their programs have this judicious mixture, but they are perfectly fitted for interpreting these programs.

Each member of the company has an extra good voice that has been correctly and thoroughly trained under competent masters.

Their solo work is excellent, but their claim to recognition is in their quartet work. It is very doubtful if any other mixed quartet in America can approach them in that sinking of individuality and perfect blending of voices that realizes ideal quartet work. It is heard in the singing of the foremost male quartets, but almost unknown in mixed quartets.

Perhaps the reason is that male quartets retain the same personnel through several, often many, seasons, while mixed quartets do well if the same singers are together several weeks or even several concerts.

The perfection of the Kellogg-Haines ensemble work and their superior selections are sufficient to win the warm approval of the most critical of musical audiences.

In addition to their mixed quartet this company have a male trio of equal merit and an instrumental quartet of no mean ability. The pianist is an excellent soloist besides being able to give humorous musical monologues of originality and worth.

Much of their program is given in elegant appropriate costumes. Some of these costume numbers are the best example of humor and wit that good musical literature has to offer. Other numbers are scenes from grand opera. Both types are given with equal good taste and artistry and commend the attention and approval of every audience as in fact does their entire program.

NEW FEATURE
FOR INSTITUTEAfternoon This Year Will be Devoted to Section Work, Never Tried Here Before.

TO BE HELD WITH CHAUTAUQUA

Three Instructors of Great Worth
Will Address Teachers This Year.

A new feature will enter into the annual session of the Rush County Teachers Institute this year. It will be known as sectional work, and it promises to be of great worth to the teachers in public schools. Each afternoon the teachers will meet in sections and will be afforded the opportunity of hearing a lecturer or one of their own number. Discussions will follow the talks.

The institute will be held in conjunction with the chautauqua again this year, August fifth to tenth, inclusive. This decision was reached at the regular meeting last year when the chautauqua originated here, the institute was held in connection with it, and later withdrawn from the assembly.

The regular institute program will be carried out in the morning as usual, and in the afternoon sectional gatherings will be held in Jackson School building which is only a block from the Coliseum where the chautauqua is held. Before when the institute was held with the chautauqua, there was only a morning session and the teachers were allowed to attend the assembly programs in the afternoon.

Two of the best instructors that could be procured were obtained this year. They are Dr. Paul M. Pearson of the department of public speaking in Swarthmore College at Swarthmore, Pa., and Prof. Edwin A. Turner of the department of the method and practice teaching in the Illinois State Normal University at Normal, Ill., and Supt. A. M. Taylor of the Milroy schools.

Dr. Pearson of Swarthmore needs no introduction to Rushville and Rush county teachers as he has lectured at the institutes here before and has many warm admirers. Prof. Turner is said to be highly accomplished as an institute lecturer. Prof. Taylor of Milroy will devote thirty-five minutes each day to talks on the teaching of music in the public schools.

The teachers will be divided in the sectional work, and their chairmen will be as follows: High school, John Geraghty; grammar grades, Mrs. Margaret Alsmann; country, Miss Reba Mahin; primary, Miss Belle Gregg. They will meet every afternoon except Friday.

The regular instructors will divide their time in the afternoon with the teachers in the sectional work. Whenever a section is without an instructor, one of the teachers will be selected to talk, and a discussion will follow.

MRS. EDDIS BEAVER DEAD

Passed Away This Morning at Home
Near New Salem.

Mrs. Myrtle Beaver, 33 years old, wife of Eddis Beaver, died this morning about four o'clock at her home south of New Salem after a few days illness. Mrs. Beaver had been unconscious since Tuesday and no hope was had for her recovery. She is survived by her husband. The funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at one-thirty o'clock in the M. P. church in New Salem.

SETTLED ACCOUNT SUIT

Bert Osborn Paid Claims Demanded by Merchants.

The five account suits filed yesterday against Bert Osborn by several merchants were settled today out of court when Mr. Osborn paid his creditors. The suits totaled $875 and will be dismissed from the circuit court. Mr. Osborn it is understood sold his automobile and met the claims of the merchants involved.

TWO SUITS FOR
DIVORCE FILEDWomen Are Made Defendants in Both Cases—Complaint in One Verged on Sensational.

ABANDONMENT IS CHARGED

Two divorce suits were filed in the circuit court this morning. The first was that of John M. Montgomery against Minnie Montgomery. Mr. Montgomery's charges verge on the sensational. He alleges in the complaint that his wife is guilty of keeping company with other men and states that frequently they carry beer to his home. He charges his wife of being guilty of a serious offense and names Cal. Vanmeter of Greenfield as being the man in the case. They were married in 1890 and separated in 1911. He asks the custody of the five children.

The other case is that of William Perkins against Katherine Perkins. Mr. Perkins alleges that she abandoned him in 1910 after they had been married three years. The couple came to this city from Indianapolis in 1909.

SPECIAL MEETING TO BE HELD TONIGHT

If Merchants Want "Big Wednesday"

Next Week, Come Out, Says

Pres. H. G. Hackman.

MANY PLANS YET TO BE MADE

"If the merchants want a 'Big Wednesday' next week, they will have to come out to the meeting tonight to help complete the plans." Thus did H. G. Hackman, president of the Retail Merchants Association, put the status of the bargain day question today. A meeting will be held tonight to further the plans for the first bargain day planned for a week from tomorrow. The first date set was tomorrow but it was postponed a week because of being only six days after the Fourth. There is much work to be done in preparing for "Big Wednesday," Mr. Hackman says.

Shelbyville Democrat: Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Henley and Mr. and Mrs. Hood of Carthage were here Sunday as guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Millerson to attend the Rhodes reunion at the fair ground. The gathering was a most enjoyable one, more than one hundred of the members of the family being present. A splendid feast was enjoyed at the noon hour.

Hubert Alexander, so of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Alexander, living west of the city, sustained a broken arm in this city Sunday. He was hurt while attempting to crank an automobile.

GOOD SAMARITAN
IS THE SUFFERERJohn McNamara Takes Frank Vance
Home and is Hit in Head
With Rock.

LATTER FINED $5 AND COSTS

Obliging Man Falls With Thud to the Walk and Stitches Are Needed to Close Wound.

That a man who is too obliging—one who plays the Good Samaritan act—often suffers for his kindness, is sometimes illustrated. The other day in Indianapolis a passenger on a city street car accidentally knocked the conductor's hat off, jumped off to get the hat and fell to the pavement, sustaining a fractured skull. He may die.

Instance number two: Last night Frank Vance got drunk and John McNamara, 330 West Third street, attempted to take him home. When within a block of the Vance home, Vance grew abusive. He struck McNamara in the back of the head with a rock. The latter fell with a thud, and the impact of his forehead with the cement caused a deep gash.

McNamara was unable to be out today on account of the very severe injury. It is understood that he is not very seriously injured, but he will likely be unable to work for several days. Several stitches were taken to close the wound.

Today Vance was arraigned in police court. He pleaded guilty to the charge of public intoxication and was fined five dollars and costs by Mayor Black. Mr. Vance stayed the fine and went free.

Vance, it is said, insisted on lying in the McNamara yard last night and Mr. McNamara decided to pilot him home. Vance did not want to go but he was taken.

The story was first circulated this morning that neighbors of Vance's had attacked McNamara, but this, the police declare, is untrue.

CASE IN JUVENILE COURT

Mrs. Flora Stamm Tried Today For Neglect.

J. T. Arbuckle, acting as special judge, heard the case against Mrs. Flora Stamm of Glenwood in juvenile court today. Mrs. Stamm was charged with the neglect of her three children. It was alleged that she was not a fit person to entrust the children with and an effort was made to place them in a home. The case occupied most of the day and was not complete at a late hour.

CONFIRMS APPROPRIATION

County Council Returns Long Enough to Make Record.

The county council was in session long enough late yesterday to make the record of the meeting and to confirm the appropriation of $5,473.60, the biggest items of which were $4500 for a heating plant, $400 for bridge repairs, $190 for the Brown bridge and $250 to repair the assembly room floor. The appropriation was made Saturday but the council had to return Monday according to the law.

Treed by a Goat

By Grace Kerrigan

(Copyright, 1912, by Associated Literary Press.)

The Carney estate had been divided up among the heirs after long litigation, and young Harold had taken possession of "The Oaks." They began calling him "Young" when he was young, and although he had arrived at the age of twenty-four he was called "Young Carney" oftener than Harold.

"The Oaks" was a fine old manor house and grounds, but the place had been neglected. To make a survey and see if all the land was there was the first thing to do; the next was to clear up the ground and make repairs.

The house and grounds to the west constituted "The Brambles." There was a young woman in this house. Professor Nansen, widower and owner, would have called it "The Briars" or "The Thistles," but his only child and daughter had brought him to a halt. Thistles, briars, burdocks and pig-weeds are not romantic. Brambles are. They signify a sort of tangle, but not too much.

Father, daughter and Aunt Jane had read and heard that "The Oaks" was to have a permanent tenant in one of the heirs, but had not been curious about it. The professor was compiling a new arithmetic and gave little heed to the world, and the sister and daughter didn't see how the change was to make any change in their daily lives.

When one has come into possession of land the wise thing is to have a surveyor run the lines and see if they agree with the deed. It is only polite to call on the party next door and see if he has any objection. Mr. Carney called on Professor Nansen and stated his case.

"Why, with all my heart," was the reply as the professor went back to his figures.

Miss Hattie and Aunt Jane were not at home. As a matter of fact, they were away for a week. One call on the professor was sufficient to start the surveyor at work, but it needed a second to inform the man of figures that he was occupying a strip five feet wide and two hundred feet long which rightly belonged to his neighbor's estate. He brought out his deeds, gave the matter a minute's attention and replied:

"Yes, of course—of course. Matters do get tangled up in the course of a hundred years. Go ahead and take all the land you want."

At the rear end of "The Brambles" was a dell. Some folks might not have called it a dell, but Miss Hattie did. At least, it was a shady spot to which she retired on a hot day to read, think or write a poem. It was her very own dell. No other person had a moral or legal right there. If Aunt Jane wanted her at the house when she was in her dell she had to go to the back door and utter a long, quavering yell—sometimes two or three of them. The yells drove away the romance, but they brought the young lady.

In due time the week was up and Miss Hattie and Aunt Jane returned. The professor said, "Howdy-do" and let it go at that. Not a word about the new man at "The Oaks," the surveyor or the loss of the ground!

Next morning the girl slipped down the path to her dell. She had been lonesome for it. Where was it? She stopped short and gazed around her in consternation.

Strayed! Stolen! Abducted! Yes, there was the spot where a dell had been, but never a dell there now! Trees cut down or trimmed—bushes uprooted—the wild cucumber vines dead or dying! Sacrilege of the most awful sort! Aunt Jane didn't have to yell to bring the astonished and indignant girl back to the house. She came on the canter and sought out her father and exclaimed:

"How could you do it—oh, how could you!"

"Ahem! Plus six—minus two and the quotient is sixteen. Ah, it's you! I meant to tell you that we've lost a strip of land. It belonged to the young man."

"But who is he?"

"Fine young man, but I've forgotten his name."

"But he's ruined my dell!"

"Yes, I suppose so. Eighteen and thirteen are thirty-one, and—"

"Father, you shall do something! You have been cheated. You have surrendered your land. I tell you my dell has been rooted out and destroyed! We must do something!"

"Yes, certainly—yes, of course. You see, my dear—"

And Miss Hattie walked straight out of the library, and straight out of the house, and straight down the path to the dell-less dell. She meant to see somebody and raise a row. She was going to demand this and that. Her cheeks burned and her eyes flashed, and the wonder was that the old goat, belonging a mile away, but out for a roam, dared to do what he did. Miss Hattie had a blue ribbon belt about her waist. The goat didn't like it. He lowered his head, roared as well as he could, and a minute later there was a girl up an apple tree and a goat looking all around in a puzzled way. He didn't go home and give it up. He didn't go away at all. He was there to see the thing through.

The girl up the tree could have screamed for help, and Aunt Jane would have come with the broom, and the cook with the mop, but just as she was thinking of it the young man from "The Oaks" came wandering that way to see what the workmen had done. He wasn't bad a look at as he wandered along and planned how he would improve this and that spot, but the situation was not in the least romantic.

Would the goat go for him? No! He wore no blue ribbon. Would he halt and turn back? It was a question. Didn't his demeanor show that he meant to inspect that very apple tree and make sure of the kind and quality of fruit? If the goat would only charge him and knock him unconscious—not fatally injure him, but render him dead to the world for two minutes—just long enough for a girl up a tree to descend with dignity and gain the shelter of the house! But he wouldn't. He never even gave the young man a second glance. Nearer—nearer—nearer—nearer! And then came a voice:

"Go away, sir!"

"Who—what!" he exclaimed with a start.

"Go at once, sir!"

"Can that be the goat speaking to me?"

"It's a girl! Go back to the house!"

"But—where is the girl?"

The young man's wonderment was genuine. He was looking in every direction but the right one. Right then and there Miss Hattie mentally called him a pudding-head, but he was master of the situation, and she had to explain:

"I'm up a tree. I was afraid of the goat. Please scare him away and then walk in another direction."

"Certainly—certainly."

The goat was given a whack with a handy club, but neither he nor Mr. Carney had traveled thirty feet when there was a yell, a fall and a thud.

"Dear me, but I regret—I beg pardon—I hope—"

"You—you stole our land!" exclaimed the girl as she scrambled to her feet as gracefully as possible.

"Yes, you stole our land, and you have stolen my dell, and you know I was up a tree, and I hate you—hate you!"

With that she was off to the house, walking with what dignity she could, and she left a young man and an old goat behind her to wonder who she was.

The goat hasn't found out yet. The young man went at it right off. He had to call on the professor—and he had to call and apologize about that dell, which he had taken for a crow's roost—and make another call for apology for being alive or something, and months and months later, when he asked a certain question he was answered:

"Yes, after years and years, maybe. I believe you knew I was up that apple tree all the time, and you must take your punishment."

Town to Honor Cardinal Richelieu.

Richelieu, in Touraine, is to erect a statue in honor of the great cardinal, its founder. Seldom has a town been more wholly the expression of its founder's will than this tiny square-built town in the corner of Touraine and Poitou (says the Westminster Gazette). It is like some old Greek colony. The streets are cut at right angles. The towers, the church, the private houses, are all wonderful examples of the purest Louis XIII style. They were all built at the same time in accordance with the cardinal's plan to form a city by the little chateau which is supposed to have been the scene of his birth, in 1585. Whether this be so or not (for another tradition places his birth at Paris), Richelieu was the place the cardinal loved and strove to dignify by founding a new town. He approved the plans of a square walled city with six gates, gave exemption from taxes to those inhabitants who built the first hundred houses, and built for himself outside a marvelous chateau, rivaling the state of the king, which has since been destroyed.

Magnificent Gift to Charity.

Peter A. B. Widener of Philadelphia lost his son and grandson in the Titanic disaster. As a memorial to them he is adding $4,000,000 to the first endowment of $3,000,000 for the Widener Home for Crippled Children. Safely invested and economically administered, the income on this additional sum should offer support, care and surgical attention for more than 300 helpless child victims of accident or heredity, not for one year or ten years, but for all time, or so long as invested capital pays interest. That such a gift is broad and wholesome humanity can hardly be questioned.

THIS GOVERNMENT IS LOOKING OVER FIELD

Personal Inquiry Being Made In to Rubber Atrocities.

Washington, July 9.—As a result of the recent official report on alleged atrocities upon Indians in the Putumayo rubber districts of Peru, the United States is having an investigation made into conditions in those regions.

Stewart Fowler, who has had broad experience in the consular service, has gone to Iquitos, Peru, to make this investigation. Mr. Fowler has just arrived at Iquitos and is proceeding to the rubber fields, several hundred miles distant. He is under explicit instructions from the department of state and is expected to make to the department detailed reports of conditions in the rubber districts. Iquitos is the chief port for the rubber districts.

Feeling of Responsibility.

Peru has repeatedly pledged herself to the United States to do all in her power to put an end to the practices of the rubber factors upon their Indian laborers. Inasmuch as the United States interceded for Peru when England first uncovered the conditions in the Putumayo region, a certain degree of responsibility for Peru's fulfillment of her promises is felt in Washington. It is partly to see just what Peru has done by way of remedying the situation that Fowler is making an investigation. A Peruvian commission is also making an investigation into conditions in Putumayo.

Married "Yama Yama" Girl.

Greenwich, Conn., July 9.—In the presence of friends, about a score in number, Richard Harding Davis, the author, who was recently divorced by his wife, took Miss Elizabeth Genevieve McAvoy, actress, as his bride in Greenwich. Miss McAvoy is known as Bessie McCoy, the "Yama Yama" girl. The wedding took place in the office of William C. Rungee, justice of the peace, Rungee officiating. Mrs. Russell Colt (Ethel Barrymore) acted as matron of honor. Governor Morris, the writer, was best man.

ARCHBALD MUST STAND CHARGES

Recommendation of Impeachment Made By Committee.

THE REPORT WAS UNANIMOUS

This Undoubtedly Will Be Adopted by the House, Whereupon the Case Will Go to the Senate and Preparations Will Be Made For a Trial Before That Body—The Ninth Case in History of Nation.

Washington, July 9.—In the report of the committee of the judiciary submitted to the house of representatives, impeachment of Judge Robert W. Archbald of the United States commerce court "for misbehavior and for high crimes and misdemeanors" is recommended. The report is signed by the Republican as well as the Democratic members. It undoubtedly will be adopted by an almost unanimous vote of the house. The Archbald case, under the constitution, then will go to the senate and preparations will be made for a trial before that body. Present indications are that action by the senate will be postponed until the December session.

Practically every seat in the house was occupied when Representative Clayton rose to read the indictment of Judge Archbald framed by the judiciary committee. The reading was followed with intense interest. The report in the case of Judge Archbald represents the ninth impeachment of a civil or judiciary officer of the federal government and is the first since the trial of Judge Charles Swayne of Florida, who was acquitted in a trial before the senate on Feb. 27, 1905. There are thirteen accusations against Archbald, each of a serious character, according to the committee report. The language of the report is severe.

Eight impeachment trials have been held before the senate. One trial was that of President Johnson, who was acquitted; another was of a cabinet officer, Secretary of War Belknap, who also was acquitted. Senator William Blount of Tennessee was brought before the impeachment court. He resigned. Samuel M. Chase, an associate justice of the supreme court, was tried and acquitted. Four other United States judges also were impeached. John Pickering of New Hampshire was removed from office; James R. Peck of Missouri, removed; West H. Humphreys of Tennessee, removed from office, and Charles Swayne of Florida, acquitted.

MISSED BUT TWO

Panama Canal Exposition Commission's Notable Record With Royalty.

Washington, July 9.—Clarence R. Edwards, who, when he isn't playing golf with President Taft, is a brigadier general in the United States army, returned from Europe with a most remarkable score card. The general said, and he has the documents to prove it, that the trip he made with the American commission urging participation in the Panama-Pacific exposition to be held at San Francisco in 1915, has never been equalled.

Out of a possible fifteen sovereigns—kings, emperors, etc.—General Edwards and the other members of the commission were received by thirteen. The other two, the emperor of Germany and the czar of Russia, had the misfortune to be absent from their capitals when the American commissioners passed through. In forty-two days the commissioners visited fifteen different countries, made the circuit of continental Europe twice, besides crossing the Atlantic and back again. General Edwards says he spent twenty-three nights on a sleeping car in making this round.

Plans For a New Army.

Washington, July 9.—For many months officers of the army college and officers attached to the general staff corps have been at work on a general scheme of reorganization of the army and details of the plan now are being carefully gone over with a view to presenting to congress a definite program of legislation covering all phases of the subject, thus averting further "patchwork" legislation.

Wreck Inquiry in Progress.

Bluffton, Ind., July 9.—Officers of the Marion, Bluffton & Eastern Traction company are conducting an investigation to learn the cause of the collision between a Goldthwaite park car and a heavy interurban near Marion Sunday afternoon, in which four persons were killed and a score or more injured.

Held to Answer Forgery Charge.

Marion, Ind., July 9.—Palestine Smith, a paroled prisoner from the Jeffersonville reformatory, is under arrest at Fort Wayne for having passed a series of forged checks on prominent Marion merchants a few days ago. Smith obtained a large sum of money in this city, the police say.

Terre Haute, Ind., July 9.—The trial of W. H. Tabor, former president of the American State bank, who was indicted for embezzlement, is in progress in the circuit court.

Health Authority Explains Why Some Towns Don't Grow

Slowtown is situated in a beautiful and fertile region, but it doesn't grow. Real progress doesn't seem to come there is such a place. What's the matter with Slowtown? Slowtown has never known the day when property had a real move to it. One day a man got off the cars and bought a lot. This was a year ago and caused a great excitement. Not a lot has changed hands since. What's the matter with Slowtown? It has yellow teeth, too, with hair on 'em. It don't know a toothbrush. It chews tobacco, lots of it, and the juice runs down upon its chin and shirt front. It has a bad breath from drinking beer and eating stale cheese and onions. Of course, enterprising, desirable men don't care go there. Why should they?

The first thing the inventor and energetic men notices when he enters Slowtown is the awful smelling privies. Their foulness poisons the air. Millions of flies hover around these privies; they eat and wallow in the horrid nastiness. At mealtime, these flies are in the Slowtown dining rooms. They fill baby's mouth and nose when he sleeps, and then baby has sore eyes and diarrhoea. Piles of manure prop up every stable. In them the flies are born which transport the disease germs which are in the spit of the spitters on the corner. Stagnant water stands in the gutters because the town board of trustees is so economical (?) they won't have gutters made right and keep right.

There is the hitchrack, too, allowed to be right in the middle of the town with its champing, stamping horses hitched there in the hot sun by their slovenly, thoughtless and cruel owners. With the hitchrack goes manure, urine, flies and smells. Of course, enterprising men with money regard Slowtown as a good place to invest capital in—nit.

And the schoolhouse—what of it? The enterprising live man, with money, or better, righteousness in him, wants to send his children to school. The schoolhouse at Slowtown is a dreary, dilapidated, pigeon of a thing. It is gloomy, dirty and has a soggy yard covered with weeds. The rooms have stoves in them which roast the children that sit near them and the children away from them suffer with cold feet, and none can study and progress as he should. The windows are small and dirty; there is not even light, and in consequence not a few children suffer and are retarded by eye strain and induced astigmatism and short-sightedness. There are no ventilating ducts and the air in the schoolrooms is foul and coughs, colds and even consumption exists. The bad air, the uneven warmth, the bad lighting, dead frogs and rats in the well, all get in their work on the helpless children. The enterprising man with money doesn't care for these things. What's the matter with Slowtown?

The matter is the people there don't know true economy. They know if they don't spend a dollar they still have the dollar, but they don't know that bread cast upon waters will return again.

They know they must sow wheat to reap wheat, but they don't know they must sow dollars to reap dollars. To a person who didn't know, the sowing of bushels and bushels of fine plump wheat upon plowed ground would look like waste. To the "dead ones" of Slowtown it looks like waste to spend money to get rid of the awful privies, to get rid of the piles of manure, to abolish the stagnant water in the gutters, to abolish the cruel hitchrack with its filth and flies, and to build an attractive, sanitary schoolhouse.

Yes, Slowtown will continue to be Slowtown; the town will always need a shave, a haircut and a clean shirt, because the block to progress who calls himself an economist prevents better things. Without Godliness, Slowtown can't grow, and it is true, as Gov. Marshall says, "Cleanliness is essential to Godliness."

Slowtown, clean up, and so take the first step to increase property values.

Of Interest to Boy Scouts

Boy Scouts of America are doing a piece of real and extremely useful scouting. They are searching for trees that are afflicted with disease or insects. This work was started in Pennsylvania where a disease is destroying thousands of chestnut trees. The boys have been of great help to the Forestry Department in detecting this disease and reporting the trees thus afflicted to the Department of Forestry.

That work afforded an excellent piece of scouting for boys and the result has been that boy scouts throughout the county have written to James E. West, Chief Scout Executive of the Boy Scouts of America asking for information about other diseases and insects that affect trees and shrubs. They wanted something definite to look for in their hikes through the woods and in their camping expeditions. As a result George H. Merritt, one of the secretaries employed by the Boy Scouts of America is compiling with the aid of Gifford Pinchot, Former United States Forester and member of the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America, a chapter for the manual and for the scoutmasters outlining different diseases of the most significant trees. Boys also are being taught what diseases of the trees and what plants are likely to prove harmful to themselves.

This work will train the observation powers of the boys by keeping them alert. They will watch the trees and the shrubs more closely and through alertness they will appreciate beauty of the trees and of the surroundings and they will gain many beneficial results from that.

"Among the most destructive insects," said Merritt, "must be enumerated the bark lice or scale insects, plant lice, wood borers, codling moth, San Jose scale, tent caterpillars, canker worms, tussockmoths, leaf-mining beetles, gall-forming insects, chinch-bugs, army-worms, weevils, and locusts. Aside from this army of destruction to forest and orchard tree alike, and to the lesser plants, there are also causes of loss due to such agents as fungus, animals, weather conditions, etc.

"The Boy Scouts, I think, can be of material service in doing real scouting in locating cases of blighted trees or of those badly affected by insects, feeders and parasites. The real information as to methods of such work will depend largely, of course, upon local or sectional conditions, and vary also with the cause, but with a little care all of this can be worked out into a very good department of Scout work. Most information as to exact causes, kinds of disease and insect troubles, methods of treatment, location, etc., will come from the various districts of the United States where government entomologists and botanists have been stationed."

LET US SHOW YOU NO-RIM-CUT TIRES

You are undoubtedly convinced that you should use No-Rim-Cut tires. Every motorist has read about No-Rim-Cut tires again and again in the magazines and newspapers. You have read how the 10 per cent oversize and No-Rim-Cut features cut tire bills in two. You have wanted these tires. They are here now. Let us show you.

NO-RIM-CUT FEATURE

No-Rim-Cut tires have six tapes of 126 braided wires in the base, making the base absolutely unstretchable. Nothing can force the tire out of the rim channel. A hooked base is not necessary to hold the No-Rim-Cut tire on. The hooked side of the rings are turned away from the tire. Then the tire, when deflated, rests on the rounded side of the rings. Rim-cutting is impossible.

10 PER CENT OVERSIZE

GOOD YEAR

When a car is overloaded the tires get that extra strain. That hastens breakdowns—means blowouts. No-Rim-Cut tires are made 10 per cent oversize to provide for overload. The construction allows the tire to carry that extra load.

That oversize means 10 per cent more air—10 per cent more carrying capacity. That oversize saves all that overloading costs and what they save the motorists.

No-Rim-Cut tires cost no more than standard clincher tires. Why shouldn't you adopt No-Rim-Cut tires? Come and see them and you will.

Mr. and Mrs. Benj. Carr of Fayette county visited Mr. and Mrs. Ed McGraw last Sunday.

Dr. and Mrs. Walthers entertained company over the Sabbath.

Robt. Stamm repaired the sidewalk in front of Mr. V. E. Lewark's residence.

Bro. Sterrett delivered a most excellent sermon from the text "The Life That Now is". Many were the compliments that were passed upon the sermon. He seems so in earnest about the delivery of the discourse. His illustrations were good.

Some of our citizens have not fully recovered from the celebration of the 4th.

Several ladies dined with Bro. and Mrs. H. D. Sterrett one day last week.

There seems to be from one to three carloads of cattle shipped from here per week.

Bro. Sterrett seems to grow in favor as time progresses. We trust he may be sent us again next year. We could not get any minister that would preach the gospel with any more force than he does.

Messrs. M. C. Stephens, T. A. Reed and Claude Thompson made a visit to the celebrated Tee-Hill Cave which no person as yet has explored to the uttermost parts. It is located east of Andersonville. We have not been able to secure any description of their researches or finds. It is supposed that many rockvipers have their hiding places in this cave. This cave is as noted as Derby Shire Falls where the young folks by the score were wont to flock. Many older persons can remember when they used to make Tee Hill every month during the summer.

A. MITCHELL PALMER

Pennsylvanian Mentioned For Chairman of Wilson Campaign.

NO OLIVE BRANCHES IN THE WILSON CAMP

Little Comfort There for Reactionary Democrats.

Sea Girt, N. J., July 9.—There has come, out of all the conferences of Democrats at "the little White House," the emphatic declaration that this is to be a campaign run by the progressive wing of the Democratic party, headed by a progressive chairman managed by progressive committees, and that there will be no olive branching, no concessions, no placating of any conservative elements in the party at any stage of the game. The progressive fight is to be carried on in every state in the Union. The national headquarters is to be in Chicago, and not only will there be an eastern branch headquarters in New York city, but another in Denver or San Francisco. There will be more effort made to attract the support of progressive Republicans than conservative Democrats.

United States Senator Thomas P. Gore of Oklahoma seems to have been able to clarify the situation. Senator Gore had a two-hour talk with Governor Wilson and he made no concealment of his gratification after the interview was over. The senator sounded the progressive keynote, and it may be added that he will play a big part in the fight. He said that the party needed a man like William F. McCombs or A. Mitchell Palmer for national chairman, and that whoever the man is to be he must be a man of the "new type."

Verdict in Camorra Trial. Viterbo, July 9.—The jury in the Camorra trial found a verdict of guilty against all the prisoners except two. Eight of the men were found guilty of actually taking part in the murder of Gennaro Cuocollo and his wife, and all the others were found guilty of being associates of the slayers or members of a criminal band.

Fell From Blind Baggage. Bedford, Ind., July 9.—Louis Fobel, aged twenty-eight, whose home was supposed to have been in Indianapolis, was killed by a Monon passenger train here. He fell from the blind baggage and the wheels passed over his body.

Professor Wilson.

Prof. Woodrow Wilson, the nominee of the Democratic party for the presidency, is a man of high character and attainments, who since his entrance into politics a half dozen years ago, has had a meteoric career, says the Marion Chronicle. All the political activities of the former president of Princeton has been directed toward the presidency.

Not every able and conscientious man is fitted for the presidency, or even for a presidential candidacy, and time has a good deal to reveal with respect to Professor Wilson. The American people have never shown great partiality for the typical scholar in politics. Doctor Wilson is a doctrinaire, more of an evangelist than an executive. The politicians who "plug" for his election will have the pleasure of being kicked down the White House steps if they should have the temerity to suggest that it would be appropriate thing for a president to reward their labors for Wilson with a berth in the public service. The foes of Governor Wilson in New Jersey say that he is considerably fonder of the men who organize and carry forward the work of a political campaign before the election than afterward. In fact it is in evidence that Governor Wilson will promptly throw overboard any friend who turns out to be anything of a load impeding his progress as a politician.

Governor Wilson has written a number of books, and some of the things he has put into print will rise to plague him before the campaign is over. Professor Wilson has said some pretty severe things about the foreign born American. But it is possible, of course, for the Professor to claim in extenuation that he has changed his mind. As a professor in Princeton Dr. Wilson used to denounce the initiative and referendum as a rank economic heresy; as a presidential candidate Prof. Wilson has been whooping it up for that very doctrine.

The methods used by Mr. Bryan in forcing the nomination of Governor Wilson have left some sore spots that will not soon heal over, at least beneath the surface. It is true that Mr. Bryan made a wonderful fight at Baltimore, but it is also true that the Commoner was needlessly brutal in his personalities and gratuitously arbitrary in his attitudes. Should he become president Professor Wilson would be troubled, as President Taft has been, with a power behind the throne in the person of Mr. Bryan, who would undoubtedly insist on having his own way in matters of legislation and administration, or knowing the reason why.

It appears that we are to have son, Roosevelt and Debs will all be in the field against Taft, for Colonel Roosevelt has announced that he will run regardless of the outcome of the Baltimore conventions. The nomination of Wilson weakens greatly the Roosevelt candidacy, as it is certain no democratic radical will go to the Colonel, while his candidacy will prevent many republican votes being cast for Wilson—in fact all the votes he receives would in the absence of his candidacy go democratic instead of near democratic. Can three radicals beat one conservative—that conservative standing alone in defense of the representative form of government? This is the problem of the interesting campaign now at hand.

Woodrow Wilson will make a remarkable campaign. He is a man of magnetic personality, of original thought and of persuasive eloquence. He is likely to draw as big crowds and arouse as much enthusiasm as did Mr. Bryan in three campaigns. But when the voting is done in the quiet of November it is doubtful if the American people will vote in favor of trying the experiment involved in trading President Taft for Professor Wilson.

Learn to Swim.

Of course, these are the days when the papers are full of deaths by drowning. But don't let that prevent you from insisting that the boy and girl learn how to swim.

Swimming is an accomplishment that can only be learned during the youth. After a person has passed a certain point in life it is useless to try to learn to swim. But the child takes to water as readily as a duck. A baby that can hardly more than crawl will swim instinctively when thrown in the water. At the time of the General Slocum disaster off New

Sam Sanderson Says:

That Halley's comet has nothing on that meteor which visited these parts last night when it comes to tails.

York a great number of very young babies were rescued from the water because of this fact.

That the human body will float in water is, of course, true. The child seems to accept this without a care. Consequently he learns to swim almost as soon as he gets in the water. But the older person has his doubts of this physical law. It is a strange and outlandish idea to him and he resents it and fights against it with the result that he cannot swim. Any one who has taught others to swim, knows that the moment the pupil has learned that if he does not fight the water he will float the task is complete, and that swimming from then on is a mere matter of practice.

Deaths by drowning? Yes, hundreds of them, mostly of people who did not learn to swim in their youth. Occasionally some bold swimmer goes down because he has overestimated his physical strength and endurance, or because he has violated all of the safe and sane rules of the water, but the great death toll is that of those who did not go down to the old swimming hole when a kid.

As long as men and women will go fishing and boating, just as long is it necessary that they learn to swim. And, besides, it is a heap of fun.

All signs of the season indicate the love of horse races survives in the automobile era with unabated vigor. The grand circuit prospects are all that could be expected or asked by the turfmen. Hundreds of trotters and pacers are in training and public interest promises to be as general and as strong as ever. This will continue to be the rule long after the motor vehicle shall have become even more popular and more commonly used than it is now. The race horse is a beautiful creature in action, and there will always be an element of uncertainty about contests between such highly organized and sensitive animals which cannot exist in like measure, in any races between machines and the men who drive them. Fine horses have temper and spirits to take into account as well as condition. They do not feel exactly as "fit" one day as another, and their speed is affected by conditions which are not easy to gauge or force. For these reasons the turf will long remain in high favor. It may never gain the vogue here it has in England but it is not likely ever to sink into a comparatively obscure place among the sporting interests of the country.

The prospect of Taft's re-election continues to improve. The proceedings at Baltimore raised a faint hope into a practically certainty. In 1908 President Roosevelt was responsible for the nomination and election of William H. Taft to the presidency. In 1912 Colonel Roosevelt was responsible for Taft's nomination by rejecting every proffer of compromise upon another man. Wouldn't it be gall and wormwood for the man from Oyster Bay if at the same time he made certain the election of President Taft as his own successor. Undoubtedly when Colonel Roosevelt refused to consider a compromise upon Hadley, of Missouri, it was because he believed that he had already made Taft's election impossible. But the plot continues to thicken, and it begins to be a pretty good bet that President Taft will succeed himself. If he does, the African jungles will hardly be thick enough to afford an appropriate hiding place for the Colonel.

Have you ever stopped to think how few mean men there are in the world? Of course at first blush you may imagine that there are a lot of them; at times you may conclude that everybody else in the world besides yourself is mean. But when you get right down to business, and take a pencil and a piece of paper and endeavor to write down all the names of mean men you know, you will pause and study and fail to get more than a name or two upon your list.

Premier Chautauqua Attraction

But take a piece of paper and begin writing down the names of the people whom you like.

Your list grows. No sooner do you have one name finished than another suggests itself. There are simply hundreds of them. You grow weary of writing—and your list lengthens. Then compare it with the little list of mean men you know—and be recreated in your opinion of the world. It is a good exercise, and one fraught with great possibilities. It will make a better man of you, and a more charitable one.

The Indianapolis Star might also suppress its sarcastic illusions. Its facetious observation about James E. Watson's boom for vice-president calls to mind the humiliation it must feel at the failure of its pigmy statesman to create any furor at the national convention. The Star's policy of suppressing in its news columns any mention of men prominent in the affairs of the nation, with the exception of a certain Indiana man who has been boomed for the office of vice-president on down by the Star, is revolting to say the least.

Indiana Republicans are delighted with the nomination of Governor Marshall for vice-president. They are pleased, in the first place, to have the State again recognized on a national ticket, and in the second place because they know there are thousands upon thousands of unbewitched democrats in the state of Indiana who will refuse to swallow a ticket with Thomas as the tail of it.

It seems that Woodrow Wilson first parted his name in the middle, and then had it cropped. As a youth it was "Tom" Wilson, as a young man it was T. Woodrow Wilson. As a professor at Bryn Mawr it was Professor Woodrow Wilson. After the election this fall it will probably be Dennis.

Trouble in the Treasury department. Hope they don't open up the money chest and throw the Rocks at each other.

The janitor who cleaned up the Baltimore convention hall found a lot of bottles, but of course they merely held root beer.

President Taft and Gov. Wilson are to be officially informed of their nomination about August 1. Why leave them uncertain so long as to whether they were really nominated or not?

Probably the boys would be willing to have their July 4 celebration outside the limits of the town, if they could be assured that they were doing some damage thereby.

If the boys were required to ring the church bells and build bonfires for an hour each July 4 morning, as a patriotic duty, how terribly abused they would feel!

There are now 48 stars in the flag, and how many university graduates can name all the states they stand for? Try it.

Are you going to support the Harvester trust and George W. Perkins, Mr. Voter?

The Liberty Bell at Philadelphia is cracking badly, and may fall to pieces. Some dime museum man will be offering $6.78 for it and not be able to understand why he doesn't get it.

Some judge—it matters little what one—has ruled that a voter's home is where his wife lives. That put the question before the single man. And it's leap year!

Arms may be developed by massaging them with cocoa butter, says a beauty expert. It might be possible that the same effect could be obtained by massaging a dish with cocoa butter.

Brief spells of dizziness, pains in the brow and temples come from eyestrain. Glasses correctly fitted—perhaps just to wear while reading, studying, sewing, or other close work may be all that's required for permanent relief.

Taken in time the constant wearing of glasses is avoided. Delay means serious eye trouble later on, expensive and painful operation or the loss of vision.

BLAINE REYNOLDS ON WAR PATH AGAIN

Lewisville Terror, Who Has Been at Large For Two Years, Only to Cause Trouble.

ATTEMPTS TO ASSAULT PEELE

Blaine Reynolds, the Lewisville terror, who has figured prominently in the criminal records of Henry county, broke loose again Sunday night and made an attempt to assault Robert Peele, one of the editors of the National Road Traveler, published at Lewisville, says the Newcastle Courier. It is stated that Reynolds approached Peele with a large stone in his hand and was bent on assaulting the newspaper man. He was prevailed upon to desist in his belligerent attitude and finally returned to his home.

Reynolds returned to Lewisville about two weeks ago, after an absence of two years from the county. His absence was due to his desire to escape arrest on three warrants charging him with assault of Peele. The warrants were never served. Peele came to Newcastle and filed two additional charges, provoke and incite, against Reynolds and the warrants are now in the hands of the sheriff.

SOCIETY NEWS

A social will be given Wednesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Hoar in West Third street by the ladies auxiliary of the A. O. H. for the benefit of the Catholic carnival which will be held July 23 to 26, inclusive.

The Women's Home Missionary Society of the St. Paul M. E. church will serve a box lunch at 6:30 o'clock Wednesday evening on the lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Hargrove in Seventh street. The members will entertain their husbands, and a special program has been prepared for the event. A large attendance is desired.

The Misses Leah Flint, Marguerite Wolcott, Gladys Wallace, Mariam Sparks, Jean McClanahan, Lucile Gray and Marion Scholl entertained last evening at the home of Miss Scholl in North Jackson street with a six o'clock luncheon in honor of the Misses Ramona Euhank and Mildred Myers of this city, Jennie and Lucile Ford of Connersville and Helen Richie of Greensburg.

Roy Curtis Winans of Eaton, Ohio, and Miss Hazel Seaford of Spiceland were married in Newcastle yesterday afternoon by the Rev. W. R. Motley, pastor of the Christian church. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Winans went to Eaton, where they will make their home. Mrs. Winans is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Seaford of Spiceland and has many friends there. Mr. Winans was formerly employed as a printer in Newcastle and is now connected with the Preble County Democrat at Eaton, Ohio.

EXAGGERATED REPORTS OF MULTIPLE BIRTHS

Occasional newspaper reports of the birth of triplets or even of quadruplets attract a great deal of attention. In many cases the reports are exaggerated or wholly untrue. Recently a paper in Indiana reported the birth of a quintette of children to a farmer's wife, 30 years old. It was stated that the children were perfectly formed and that the mother had two years previously given birth to triplets. The family in question was greatly annoyed by the receipt of numerous inquiries and letters from curious people concerning the unusual occurrence. Inquiry made by the Journal of the American Medical Association of a local physician proved that no such multiple birth had occurred. Such cases, if authenticated, would be of considerable medical interest; but investigation usually proves the reports to be without foundation.

Mrs. Fred Kessler, Age 60, Succumbs at Her Home Near Manilla After Brief Illness.

4 DAUGHTERS AND HUSBAND

Elizabeth, wife of Fred Kessler, died at her home one and one-half miles northeast of Manilla yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, of diabetes. Mrs. Kessler was sixty years old at the time of her death. Besides her husband the deceased is survived by four daughters, May Sarah and Carrie Kessler and Mrs. Lizzie McCabe and by six sons, John, Jacob, William, Frank, Fred, Michael and Edward. Mrs. Kessler was sick only a short time and the family did not find it necessary to call a physician until Saturday. Since that time Mrs. Kessler rapidly grew worse until her death. Mrs. Kessler was a well known woman and popular among the people of her community and because of her friendliness to all persons at all times she had many friends to whom the announcement of her death will come as a great blow.

—Dr. Barnett, pastor of the United Presbyterian church at Monmouth, Ill., spent today here as the guest of Prof. and Mrs. A. F. Stewart of Monmouth, who are visiting here, and other friends. He had been called to Richmond on business, and expects to go from here to Winona, where his sons are taking a summer vacation.

AMUSEMENTS

The Portola will have a feature Selig tonight entitled "The Los Angeles Fire Department." It is a spectacular picture showing the modern methods of fire fighting. The other is a western drama, "For the Papoose." A coming attraction is "The Lady of the Lake."

The Princess has a Vitagraph, "The Old Kent Road" for the first film tonight. The picture features Maurice Costello, and is said to tell a dramatic story. The other is an Urban comedy, "Percy's Visit." Both are said to be exceptionally good pictures.

And That Has Not Yet Been Affixed.

THE QUEST FOR A CHAIRMAN

Sub-Committee of National Republican Committee Is Seeking a Way Out of Perplexing Situation in Which It Finds Itself—With Elimination of Barnes of New York, Choice Seems to Lie Between Hilles and Daugherty.

Washington, July 9.—The sub-committee of nine of the Republican national committee quit last night, after conferences extending over the entire day yesterday, without having made any selection for chairman of the national committee. As a result of the day's conference the drift has been decidedly toward Charles D. Hilles, the president's private secretary, and the impression today is that the choice lies between Mr. Hilles and Harry M. Daugherty, who has been prominent in Ohio politics for several years.

William Barnes, jr., who had been favorably considered for the place, practically has been eliminated. The national committeemen were almost unanimous in the opinion that Mr. Barnes is the best equipped man for the place, but the fear was expressed that his selection would lead to the immediate lugging in of the Barnes issue to the Taft campaign.

The members of the sub-committee who were instructed by the national committee to confer with the president in regard to the permanent organization of the latter committee, found Mr. Taft's mind absolutely open on the chairmanship. This was disappointing to some members of the committee. The president insisted on having the views of the committeemen and upon giving his own opinions in regard to several candidates. The result was that the committeemen ended their day's labors without any candidate bearing the Taft tag. The president, now, that he has obtained a full expression of views from the committeemen, will indicate his choice more definitely today, perhaps.

A movement was started to get Representative Mann of Illinois to take the place, but Mr. Mann would not consent to the use of his name. The most notable thing about the chairmanship situation is that five or six candidates really want the job. Mr. Barnes of New York would like to have it. So also would Mr. Daugherty of Ohio. This fact was taken to indicate that the political wisecracks believe that Taft at least has a good fighting chance.

There was a surprising cheerfulness among the committeemen over the nomination of Woodrow Wilson by the Democratic convention and the announcement of the call for the Bull Moose party.

SCORING WELL

America Doing Fine Work at the Olympic Games.

Stockholm, July 9.—American athletes overwhelmed those of the old world yesterday, scoring in every final and finishing the third day of the Olympic track and field contests with a total of twenty-five points. In every event decided so far, except the javelin throw, the United States has placed one man or more, and in two events has accounted for the whole three places. Finland is second to America with six points, Sweden and Greece each has three, Norway and Germany two each and Hungary one. England has not scored a single point in the seven events decided.

Restitution Is Ordered.

Trenton, N. J., July 9.—Vice Chancellor Stevens has decided that the executors and heirs of the late Henry O. Havemeyer must make restitution for $10,000,000 of common stock of the National Sugar Refining company of New York, which was issued to Mr. Havemeyer for no tangible consideration, thereby constituting a fraud within the meaning of the corporate laws of this state.

Usury Is Charged.

New York, July 9.—The first of what promises to be a series of raids on the "loan sharks" of New York was made under the direction of the district attorney. Eight prisoners were taken, three of them young women, who were held in jail for examination on the charge of usury.

Secretary of Treasury to Probe Andrew Charges.

Washington, July 9.—Returning from his Fourth of July holiday with his family at Dublin, N. H., Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh announces that he will proceed at once to test out the loyalty of his various division and bureau chiefs who were mentioned in the letter written by Dr. A. Platt Andrew, second assistant secretary of the treasury, in tendering his resignation to the president July 3.

Mr. MacVeagh added that he was not aware of any grounds on which Dr. Andrew could have brought in the names of several bureau chiefs as having had difficulty with the secretary and who would indorse his statement that the business of the department was being conducted in a deplorable manner. Practically all of the men mentioned were quick to reassure the secretary by wire or letter of their loyalty.

The president is standing firmly by MacVeagh in this matter and there is no likelihood of a breach between them.

TENDERS HIS RESIGNATION

Democratic National Committeeman From Indiana Throws Up His Place in Committee, Declaring His Only Purpose in Doing So Is to Get Out of Politics—Says He Is Perfectly Satisfied With Wilson Nomination.

Washington, July 9.—Thomas Taggart of Indiana has resigned his place on the Democratic national committee to take effect July 14. Mr. Taggart, who is in Washington, made the announcement that his resignation had been forwarded to the chairman of the national committee. Mr. Taggart insists that his only purpose in quitting the national committee is to get out of politics. He said he is perfectly satisfied with Wilson's nomination.

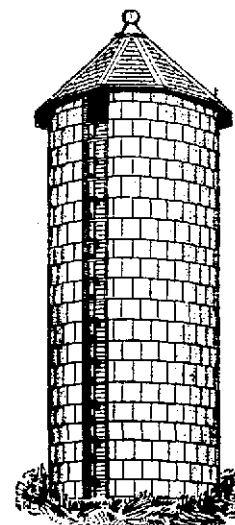

Indianapolis, July 9.—Strong pressure will be brought to bear by Bernard Korbly, chairman of the Democratic state committee, and his associates to have Thomas Taggart reconsider his action in resigning as the Indiana member of the Democratic national committee.

Mr. Korbly said he received a telegram from Mr. Taggart informing him of the resignation. This was the first official information he had received of the resignation. Mr. Korbly said, and the telegram made no explanation of the reasons why Mr. Taggart had come to the decision. After a consultation with Burt New, secretary of the state committee, Mr. Korbly announced that an effort would be made to have Mr. Taggart reconsider the matter.

In case Mr. Taggart should persist in his resignation, Mr. Korbly said he did not know what would be the correct method of selecting another Indiana man to take his place. Mr. Korbly said he did not have information as to who would be recommended for the place should Mr. Taggart insist on leaving the national committee.

Lafayette, Ind., July 9.—George Wilson, an employe of the Dryfus packing plant, fell into a tank of boiling water and was scalded to death.

CALLS WATSON A LOGICAL ORATOR

Brown County Chairman, Anderson Percifield, Issues Call for Rally and Convention.

LOCAL STATESMAN TO SPEAK

Nashville on the Hill Will be the Scene of First G. O. P. Meeting of Campaign.

Anderson Percifield, a Nashville attorney who may be the Republican nominee for attorney general is making an effort to have a big crowd of Republicans at Nashville, July 27, when there will be a Republican rally and county convention, says the Columbus Republican. Mr. Percifield has written to A. W. Phillips, chairman of the Bartholomew county Republican committee, asking him to attend the meeting and to interest a large number of Bartholomew county Republicans in being present.

James E. Watson of Rushville will be one of the speakers and he is described in a notice sent out by Mr. Percifield as being "the most eloquent and logical orator in the world." The call for the Nashville meeting is signed by Anderson Percifield, chairman, and Alfred C. Oalden, secretary. It reads as follows:

The Republicans of Brown county and all others who favor a reduction of high taxes and economy in the expenditure of the people's money are invited to meet in the court room in Nashville, Brown county, Indiana, at 1 o'clock p. m. Saturday, July 27, 1912, for the purpose of nominating a county ticket, select delegates to the State, congressional, senatorial, legislative and judicial conventions and to transact any other political business that may come before the convention. The Hon. James E. Watson, the most eloquent and logical orator in the world, has been invited and expected to be present and speak to the people; also many other able speakers will attend this meeting, including our State chairman, Hon. Fred A. Sims, and candidates for State offices. Splendid music will be furnished by the Nashville cornet band. Ladies are especially requested to attend and will receive courteous attention by the reception committee.

LEBANON TEAM TO PLAY HERE SUNDAY

Rushville Will Have to Play Some to Win as They Have Fast Bunch.

GAME CALLED AT 2:30 O'CLOCK

The fast Lebanon ball team will play here Sunday. Lebanon is said to have a strong team and their record so far this season indicates that Rushville will have to play hard to win. Lebanon defeated Lafayette 5 to 2, Frankfort 10 to 2, and lost the second game to Frankfort, 1 to 3. The French Lick Plutos won from them only by the hardest kind of playing. The score was 13 to 9. The games commencing Sunday will be called at 2:30 o'clock instead of three o'clock. This change should meet with the approval of the fans as the games in the past have been ending rather late. "Chick" Avery will be in the box for the locals and the line up will be the same as last Sunday.

APOPLEXY STROKE FATAL

Mrs. Julia Turner Expires at Home Near Henderson.

Mrs. Julia A. Turner, 64 years old, wife of Thomas W. Turner, died last night at eleven o'clock at her home near Henderson. Mrs. Turner suffered a stroke of apoplexy about ten days ago and little hope had been expressed for her recovery. Mrs. Turner is survived by her husband and eleven children, as follows: "B. F. Turner, W. J. Turner, Mrs. Martha David, John H. Turner, Henry Turner, Mrs. Susie Foster, Mrs. Laura Stevens, Mrs. Emma Fry, Claude and Chester Turner. The funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in the Hannegan church, conducted by the Rev. T. B. Gary. Burial will take place in the church cemetery.

LEWISVILLE DRUG STORE IS LOOTED

Thieves Enter Willis Establishment and Rob Safe of $75 and Valuable Papers.

HOME TALENT IS SUSPECTED

Bloodhounds From Dayton, O., Arrive and Are Put on the Trail at Once.

The safe in the drug store of L. L. Willis, at the corner of Main and Williams street, Lewisville, was entered by burglars Monday and was robbed of $75 in cash and valuable papers. The robbery was committed after midnight.

Entrance to the store was gained by removing a window sash. After getting inside the burglars had an easy task as the outer door of the safe was not locked. The inner door was broken with a hammer and the money taken from a drawer. Nothing else in the store was disturbed.

Home talent is believed to be responsible for the robbery. It is thought that persons who knew that the safe was not locked made the burglary and secured the money. Two persons are suspected and are under surveillance.

The robbery was discovered by Mr. Willis when he opened his store for the day's business. As soon as he saw the condition of the safe he notified Marshal Nelson and after a consultation it was decided to send for bloodhounds from Dayton, Ohio. The dogs arrived about noon and were placed on the trail.

The Dayton dogs arrived and promptly took the trail from the store. They ran to one of the railroad camps and stopped. The canine man hunters were taken back again and took the same trail and stopped at the same place.

IS CANDIDATE FOR GRAND SECRETARY

Carl Gunning Will go Before National Convention of Kappa Alpha Phi For Office.

BOOSTER DELEGATION GOING

Carl Gunning of this city will go before the national convention of the Kappa Alpha Phi fraternity this year as a candidate for national secretary. The convention will be held in Alexandria August 28, 29, and 30. It is probable that Mr. Gunning will be opposed in the fight for the job as the elections for national officers are always hotly contested. A majority of the members of the local chapter are planning to attend the convention and boost the candidacy of their fraternity brothers. The convention activities will consist not only of business sessions but also a round of social events.

METEOR CAUSES BIG SCARE HERE

skyrocket when it reached the zenith of its flight.

The person who argues in the opposite direction agrees. It did burst, resplendent in its glory, as it was near the horizon line, as seen from here, he agrees, but that would not be felt here as it was, he contends.

"Yes, but it would," replies the former upholder of the explosion theory. "The agitation was all in the atmosphere and that was the cause for the earthquake phenomena felt here."

Thus the argument waxes warm as two men gather on the street and discuss the appearance of the heavenly body that is not a common or welcome visitor in these parts.

People who witnessed the passage of the nightly visitor gave astounding versions of the startling happenings. Several men in Main street, crouched to the earth from fear, when they heard and saw the hissing mass of flame and heated matter cutting a path through the stars.

One man, it is authentically reported, quickly fell to his knees to implore divine help escaping from such a horrible death. Still others shouted aloud on the streets that the world was coming to an end. He expressed the thoughts, doubtless, of hundreds of Rushville people. That was the first impression gained by many a person.

There are few people who did not either see, or were awakened by the heavenly body. Tales were told today of people who were aroused from peaceful repose by the explosion and the shaking of their homes. It is absolutely known that several men were importuned by their wives to make a search of the premises at that hour of the night for burglars.

Any number of men refused to believe that an attempt would be made to enter a home at such an early hour. Nevertheless, many were hiked out of their downy beds to make a hurried inspection trip about the house and yard in search of some bold intruder who might have been hammering at a window sash in an attempt to raise it.

Two Rushville young men were traveling to this city from Shelbyville in an automobile last night and had a fine vintage point from which to view the awe inspiring sight. They assert that they were dazed and horrified when they saw the mass of flames burst into sight.

They brought their car down to a slow gait in an instant, because they feared the thing would fall directly on them, so close to the earth did it seem. The two men say the meteor, just before it disappeared from view, turned to a golden hue and then burst into innumerable particles, making a beautiful sight.

Many tales of how the passage of the strange "ship of the night" affected people were told today. Some men were seated in the lounge room of the Knights of Pythias building when the meteor invaded this section. They heard the noise and felt the building shake. They thought something on the second floor had fallen down and went up to investigate.

This is a true story. Last night a large pile of newspaper paper was left on a table in the basement of the Daily Republican building. This morning it was strewn over the floor, having fallen off during the night. The conclusion is that the jar caused by the meteor was responsible.

There was a story going the rounds this morning that a particle lit in Dr. H. H. Elliott's yard in Glenwood. Mrs. J. T. Paxton, a neighbor of Elliott's said that nothing of the sort had happened, but that the meteor had been seen there by a number of people.

Mrs. Paxton said she was lying in the hammock in her yard, when it passed. She was frightened by the sight of the mass of flames, and then terrified by the jar that followed immediately. The impression of her and Dr. Paxton was that someone was trying to enter their house through the roof.

The incident recalls the falling of a meteor in Frank Wilson's yard several years ago. It was dug up at the time and exhibited.

Several people this morning recalled the passing of a meteor over Rushville twenty years ago. As it was last night, everyone thought the meteor had fallen in the near vicinity. It later developed it had lit in the Gulf of Mexico.

Intelligences in dispatches to the metropolitan dispatches were that a meteor fell in the Ohio river near Louisville last night, and it is presumed it was the same body which passed over here. According to a story in the Enquirer the meteor appeared to be two feet in diameter. It caused consternation along the river front.

The same thing was seen in Springfield and Hamilton, Ohio, according to Enquirer dispatches. At Springfield it was so low that it was feared buildings would be hit.

Dispatches from Vernon and Anderson to the Indianapolis Star were that the meteor had fallen in the vicinity of each place. These stories were to the effect that the body was directed toward the earth, and the same thing was true here.

These dispatches told of the miniature earthquake felt there as it was here, and of the fright of people who saw it.

OUR FRANK MAY YET BE GOVERNOR

Second Official in Indiana Will Step up Notch if Gov. Marshall Resigns.

TO TAKE PART IN CAMPAIGN

According to the Cincinnati Enquirer there is a probability of Governor Marshall resigning as governor in case he is called upon to take an active part in the coming campaign in which case Lieutenant Governor Frank J. Hall of Rushville would succeed him as governor of the State of Indiana.

Governor Marshall in expressing himself upon this question, is quoted as saying that he will either not campaign, or, if he does, and can not attend to the duties as governor, he will resign and turn the work over to Lieutenant Governor Hall.

When Governor Marshall was asked about his plans for a campaign, he said, "I shall stay here and attend to my duties as governor. If I do not attend to my duty as I see it, and make any sort of a campaign, I can do one of two things: I can go long without making any campaign or I can put the lieutenant governor in office. But that is all in the future and I have not given it consideration."

WINSHIP GETS CONTRACT.

Newcastle Courier: M. M. Winship, the Rushville contractor, who has had extensive operations in this city during the past year, was awarded the contract for the erection of a $15,000 school building in Brownsburg, Saturday. He will start work on the job at once. Mr. Winship built the new Mouch building, the Grand avenue fire station and the new residence of C. C. Hunt in this city.

HOW many of your hard earned dollars go up in ice each year? A great many more than you would like to have, undoubtedly. The "main question" with most of us is how we can best reduce this number of dollars to a minimum. The solution of the problem lies with the refrigerator.

Q The price you pay to-day for a refrigerator is but a small part of the price you will pay in the life time of the refrigerator for ice.

Q It is therefore, economy to buy the best refrigerator—the refrigerator, which because of its scientific construction and superior insulation, will use the least ice and will stand the hardest usage for the greatest number of years.
